Food poverty and food provision:

The limitations of the existing model of food banks have been clearly identified:

Food poverty is a growing problem nationally as numerous reports show:

<http://foodfoundation.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2016/05/FoodInsecurityBriefing-May-2016-FINAL.pdf>

The problem with levels of food waste is also well documented: there is a new food waste inquiry being launched: <http://www.keithtaylor MEP.org.uk/2016/07/12/keith-taylor-mep-welcomes-inquiry-into-food-waste/>

The idea of a social supermarket has been trialled in the EU (and in some locations in the UK) and is subject to an EU funded study (<http://socialsupermarkets.org/about-2/>), with the first publications being:
